Homestead Exemption.

Judge Hughes has decided that "the homestead exemption provided by sections 1, 5, 16 and 17 of chapter 183 of the Code of Virginia is good against the lien of an execution on persoual property, and a court of bankruptcy will grant the homestead exemption in goods on which the execution lien attached before the adjudication of the bankrupt; certainly where there was no levy or sale."

The Judge states the case and his opinion of the law as follows:

sued out an execution against the goods and month was in May, 1871, the tonnage for tha chattels of one Nelson and of Lemuel Peebles month being 120,421, which was conveyed (this bankrupt) jointly, which went into the ser-geant's hands on the 5th of December, 1874. "On the 21st of December, 1874, Peebles filed his petition in bankruptey, and was thereupon duly adjudicated a bankrupt. Afterwards—to wit: on the 30th of December, 1874—the execution was levied by the sergeant upon certain personalty of Prebies, specified in the return of he sergeant made at the March rules of 1875; which personalty would otherwise be exemptable in lieu of a homestead exemption to the said Peobles.

"The only question arising in this case is whether the bankrupt's claim of exemption in lieu of homestead is good against an execution ien where the levy was not made until after the adjudication in bankruptey. As the levy after that time was void—see re Davis vs. Anderson. 6 B. R., 145 Bump's Bankruptey, 7 Ed., p. 153 -(the estate of the bankrupt having passed into the custody of the Federal court bound by lien but free from all interference by the officers of other courts.) the more direct question is, whethor the homestone is good in this case against the lien of an execution? This question must be decided upon the laws of Virginia, for the homestead is given by the national bankruptcy law only in cases where it is given by the law of each State.

The Constitution of Virginia provides that "every householder or head of a family shall be entitled to hold, exempt from levy, seizure, garnisheeing, or sale under any execution, order, &c , real or personal property not exceeding S2,000 in value." to be selected by himself. It authorizes the Legislature to provide how this benefit may be obtained and enjoyed by any law which 'shall not defeat or impair the benefit' of the provision. In pursuance of this authority the Legislature has provided, with some minuteness, the manner in which this benefit shall be claimed and soured in respect to the householder's real estate, but has not made such explicit special provision as to personalty, doubtless from the impracticability of deing so. But it has provided in respect to personalty, in sections 16 and 17 of chapter 183 of the Code, how the hous holder may, after execution sued out and levied, and even after sale, secure from sale or after sale suy personalty which he may select and designate as an exemption to the amount allowed by inw. Section 5 of the same chapter of the dote provides in effect that though this personalty may be subject to the liens of mortgaget, deeds of trust, or executions, the "claim of the homestead" shall be good against such "last named lien." It seems to me, therefore, to be trifling with the subject to contend, in view and in despite of the express language of section i of article xi. of the State Constitution, and sections 1, 5, 16 and 17 of chapter 183 of the Code, that the lien of an execution, whether levied or not-certainly when not legally leviel-is good against the homestead. Courts have no more right than private citizens to disregard the statute law of the land, and the arbitrary individual judgment of a judge can be no more rightly exercised against a plainly written and constitutional law than that of a private cit zen.

The goods mentioned in the pleadings in this case must be set apare to the bankrup, notwithstanding the execution lien neld by T. L.

UNPUBLISHED ADDRESS OF EX-PRESIDENT to the State Library the following, which, ac delay. The case is novel and important. cording to an engorsment on the back of the manuscript, is a reply by Thomas Jefferson to an address of welcome from his fellow-citizens It reads as follows:

"Neturning to the scenes of my birth and early life, to the sectety of those with whom 1 was raised and who have been ever dear to me, I receive, fellow citizens and neighbors, with inexpressible pleasure the cordial welcome you are so good as to give me. Long absent on duties which the history of a wonderful era made incumbent on those called to them, the pomp, the turmoil, the bustle and splendor of office have drawn but deeper sighs for the tranquil and irresponsible occupations of private life, for the enjoyment of an affectionate intercourse with you, my neighbors and triends and the endearments of family love, which nature has given us all, as the sweetener of every hour. For these I gladly lay down the distressing burthen of power and seek with my fellow citiz as repose and sheaty under the watchful cares, the labors and perpexities of younger and abler minds. The auxieties you express to administer to my happiness do or themselves confer that happiness; and the measure will be complete if my endeavors to fulf i my duties in the several public stations to which I have been called have obtained for me the approbation of my country. The part which I have acted on the theatre of public life has been before them, and to their entence I submit t; but the testimony of my native county, of the individuals who have known me in private life, to my conduct in its various daties and relations, is the more grateful as proceeding from eye-witnesses and observers, from triers of the vicinage. Of you, then, my neighbors I may ask, in the face of the world, 'whose ox bave I taken, or whom have I de-frauded? Whom have I oppressed, or of whose hand have I received a bribe to blind mine eyes therewith? On your verdict I rest with conscious security. Your wishes for my happiness are received with just sensibility, and I offer sincere prayers for your own welfare and pros-

"April 3, 1809." MARRIED AT THE PISTOL'S MOUTH. - At 7 o'clock this morning a well dressed young man made his way in haste into Willard's Hotel. He entered by the street door, and from thence passed towards the office. For convenience sake we will call him No. 1. Simultaneously another young man entered the hotel by the When avenue door. Him we will call No. 2 No. 1 reached the clerk's office he saw No. 2. who had entered by way of the avenue, when No. 1 took to his heels, and No. 2 ran after him, crying budly, "Stop nim; I want him!" A race then commenced, which terminated in tion.' the kitchen of the hotel. The young man who had entered by the avenue door caught the Fourteenth street visitor by the ear. Then the cooks dropped their skillers and hot dough, and wandered what aext. But they didn't wonder long, as almost in the twinking of an eye the one who hald the other by the ear drew out an ugly looking revolver, and said. "You have seduced my sister, and you must go with me at once and marry her, or I will blow the few brains that you may have out of your head.' The reflections of the youth thus accosted cannot be imagined, but his conclusions were correct, as he quickly departed with his would be assiilant. CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO CANAL.—The president and directors of the Chesapeake and Ohio canal held their regular monthly meeting in Annapolis on Saturday. The president sub mitted his monthly report, which is as follows

"I have great satisfaction in reporting tha the coal tonnage for the past month not only shows a decided increase over same period of 1874, but is the heaviest tonnage that ever passed over the canal in any one month. The number of tons shipped from Cumberland wa 121,429 tons being an increase as compared with May, 1874, of 6,873 tons. The greates "At the November term (1874) of the Circuit with May, 1874, of 6,873 tons. The greates Court of the city of Petersburg T. L. Johnson cumber of tons shipped in any preceding from Cumberland to Georgetown in 1,10 boats, while the tonnage of the past month of 121,439 tons was carried in 1,074 boats, or 3 boats less than it required to carry 120,92 tons in 1871, which shows that the improve condition of the work has so increased the car rying capacity of the boats that in 1875 th same number of boats that in 1871 were requir ed to carry 120.921 tons would now carry 124,957 tons, viz: Number of boats leavin Cumberland May, 1871, 1,105, average ton page 1092, aggregate toppage 120,921 tops number of boats leaving Cumberland May 1875, 1,105, average tonnage 1131, aggregat tonnage 124,957 tons, thus decreasing the cos of transportation to coal companies and boar men in one month as compared with Ma 1871, $5,945, viz: 403 tons at $1 25 per ton, $5,045. The accrued revenue for May was $65,724 15, which is a decrease as compared with May, 1874, of $3,277 70. which decrease is accounted for from the fact that the toll and wharfage has been decreased 8 cents per ton and the boat toll reduced to $2.04 each trip.

The expenses for the month were $20,320 18, showing the net amount of revenue for the mouth to be $45,493. The balance in the different banks to the credit of the company, May 29, was $55,832 67, to which add accrued re venue not yet collected, $35,489 43, making $91,322 10. I therefore recommend that the board appropriate $50,985 to pay the coupons on the preferred construction bonds due Jandary 1, 1862."

The board accordingly appropriated the above amount, to be paid at Alexander Brown & Sons' on and after the 24th inst. The stockholders will meet on Monday next and elect a canal board for the ensuing year, to which time the canal board adjourned.

NOVEL CASE. - Henry S. Schreiner, of Savannah, Ga., was arrested in Baltimore Saturday on a telegram received by the marshal of police of Baltimore, from the chief of police of Savannah, charged with kidnapping his own children, aged respectively four and six years. After investigating the case, Marshal Gray, of Baltimore, informed Mr. Schreiner that he was no longer detained, and he was raleased with the children. On Saturday the children, on a writ of babeas corpus, sued out in the city court by a law firm of Baltimore, acting as counsel of the grandfather of the children, who wished to detain them, were brought before Chief Judge Brown, and after the hearing were remanded in the custody of the father, Mr. Schreiner. On leaving the court the father was again arrested on a warrant issued by a justice of the peace, charged with kidoapping his children, and then were again released, after which, protected by city officials, the father went to Locust Point, and sailed for Europe with his children on the Braunschweig. From the evidence it seems the grandparents, who reside in Savannah, were opposed to the father's taking his children with him to Europe, and through the telegraph and writ of habeas corpus and Baltimore lawyers, attempted their town.

THE COLORADO BEETLE. - This pest is giving great trouble to potato growers in this localis a penalty we are paying for not preserving our own seed. In support of this a friend informs us that he found the larvæ of the beetle permeating a mass of "peerless" which he had cut for planting and held over for a few days in a dry cellar during unfavorable weather. In that lot the hollow-hearted poratoes were honey-combed, and raised the presumption that the egg is deposited on the tender tuber. eneased by its growth, and when subjected to light and heat, hatched as well above as below ground. If this be correct, and we see no reason to doubt it, the egg usually batches in the ground and the larvæ feeds on the old tuber, till it matures, when it follows the line of the vine to the surface, where it appears a perfect beetle. Oace on the vine, the beetle lays with nice judgment the number of eggs on the under side of the plant calculated to furnish food for its larvæ and disappears. The larvæ strip the vines of leaves, mature, and burrow to attack the tubers and perpetuate the pest .--Warrenton Indec.

STRIKE AT THE ROLLING MILL IN CUMBER-LAND, -The Cumberland Times says: strike occurred among the employees of the rolling mill on Friday. It is generally understood that the difficulty originated about the employment of a puddler not a member of the society. Forty.eight puddlers quit work, whereupon the objectionable party was discharged. A committee of puddlers called on Mr. Venners late Friday evening, but that gentleman had gone to Baltimore. The puddlers did not resume work, and we learn a difficulty with reference to wages is now the point of conten-
